

Launching 2016

Good things ahead

Here's a quick look at the churches & pastors I have the privilege to serve.

Pastor Joe is starting his church in the GiDC this January. He is a strong leader and I'm looking forward to our work with the core team of this recent church plant in Akron.

Ty and I have been in a coaching relationship for almost a year. When he took over a disciple-making core team from a former pastor I thought the group would not stay together. On the contrary every one in them started discipling others! Powerful stuff.

Pastor Amjad Samuel's church in Shelton, CT is at an important juncture. We've been training their core team they'll be starting small discipleship groups this January.

Amjad invited in his new friend Pastor Ken Smith of First Baptist. He and his wife have been learning with us in our monthly training. He'll be in a triad with Amjad and myself.

Pastor Bob is also in his third year of our Growing Intentional Disciple-making Churches or GiDC. He's excited about his core team leading discipleship triads and wants to see them multiply.

Mark Pruitt the Rector at St Paul's Episcopal has had me assisting with running Alpha, with MC duties at their Community Meal and a Tuesday lunch Bible study. This February I'll be helping them start ten small groups by recruiting, training and developing a curriculum.

Pastor Eric & Pastor Garrett are a part of our NALC congregations. They're in their final year of our 3 year disciple-making process & will be working on their missional efforts: serving the community & evangelism.

Pastor Kent is finishing up his first year in the GiDC. He's intrigued by the next steps his core team will take. They will be considering and thinking through "The Ways of the Alongsider."

Roger Keller just started the GiDC this December. We've begun the life coaching process. His church will be in our third wave of churches in our region.

Pastor Jerry Rhea leads Trinity Lutheran. He's enthused to see what develops in his core team as they consider how the Lord will use them to make disciples. Jerry is so fun to be with and thoroughly has loved his life and leadership coaching I've provided.
